SECOND MISS GALLAUDET CROWNED

Following a week of competition, Pamela Young of Flint, Michigan, was crowned Miss Gallaudet on Saturday night. Pam was among eight semi-finalists selected from 22 contestants who competed Saturday evening in three events: cocktail dress, evening gown and talent. In addition, each girl was asked to answer the question: "If you became Miss Gallaudet, what will that mean to you in the future?"

Representing the Hillel Club in the Pageant, Pam is a senior majoring in English. She is a member of Delta Epsilon Sorority and the Gymnastics Club and has been a Dean's List member three times.

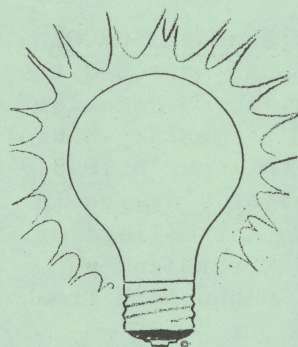

Runners up were: Carolyn McCaskill, Pauline Spanbauer and Hershella Hearn.

Pam will go on to represent Gallaudet College in the Miss Deaf America Pageant which will be held during the National Association of the Deaf convention in Seattle, Washington, in July.

AROUND AND ABOUT

Copies of the 1972-73 President's Report are now available in the Alumni and Public Relations Office....Ninety-six units of blood were donated to the American Red Cross by members of the College community on January 21....Steve Mathis, holder of the Powrie V. CONSERVE ENERGY!

Remember to turn off unnecessary lights.

IT'S NOT TOO LATE

If you missed the opening of the Gallaudet Forum with the Joy Boys on Friday night, you still have time to get in on the remainder of the series.

The next dinner-lecture in the series is on February 22, and will feature Stewart R. Mott, "avant garde" philanthropist and heir to a General Motors fortune. Mr. Mott will speak on government reform, population control and disarmament.

Many crimes can be avoided,, and you can learn how. On March 29, a six-member committee of convicted offenders will give their insights into how not to be a victim of crime.

The 1974 Forum will close on April 29 when the new superintendent of the D.C. Public Schools, Barbara Sizemore, will discuss creative ways of achieving maximal learning in our schools.

Tickets for the remaining lectures can be purchased for $10 per person. Call the Center for Continuing Education (phone and TTY) for more information. Don't miss out on this interesting and informative series!

AMERICAN COLLEGE THEATRE FESTIVAL

The 1974 American College Theatre Festival Region 11, opens at Gallaudet, February 14, and runs through February 17.

Four major plays, one of which is an original drama and part of the new play-writing award; and nine different workshops, led by professionals in the theatre, will be featured in the four day event.

A $4 registration fee, which entitles one to admission to all plays and workshops, can be paid to Jo Tracy in the Drama Department prior to February 4. Checks should be made out to Region 11, American College Theatre Festival.

Space permitting, individuals will be admitted to each performance and workshop for $1.50 per ticket.

HAVE A PROBLEM? LOOKING FOR HELP?

Liz Katz, a student at MSSD, wants to remind members of the Gallaudet community that there are several sources of consultation available to deaf persons who need assistance with medical and psychological problems.

Manned by hearing people, the Hotline in Prince Georges County has a TTY and can be called for emergency assistance. Dial 864-7271.

In addition to offering pregnancy tests and V.D. tests, the Free Clinic also has "walk-in" counseling services. Located at 901 Addison Road, Seat Pleasant, Maryland, the Free Clinic has deaf counselors working on Tuesdays and Fridays from 8-11 p.m.

Liz also has information about a group of nine deaf people known as the Deaf Advocates who can be contacted for help. Shortly Liz will have address and phone number information.

DO YOU HAVE TRAVEL PLANS?

If you do plan to be traveling for the College, Jerald Jordan would appreciate your keeping him informed. J.J. is trying to keep tabs on where Gallaudet people are going so that we can better coordinate our contacts with schools for the deaf and local alumni.

J.J. is located in the Admissions Office, Hall Memorial Building and can be reached by TTY, ext. 343.

ON THE GREEN is published each week for the faculty and staff of Gallaudet College. Please submit all news items to the Alumni and Public Relations Office by Monday noon.
